

IX. SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION

Supporting Data

Each RTPA should include the following supplemental information as part of the RTP, or in separate documents.

- Inventories, analysis of inventory data, forecasts and forecast methodology, technical reports, background papers, air quality and land use plans used as a basis for the transportation plan. (Agencies shall consult the conformity regulations for specific analysis and documentation requirements in nonattainment and maintenance areas (40 CFR 93.106, 110, 122, etc.).
- Special plans, or reference to such plans, which are sub-elements of the RTP such as the Intelligent Transportation Systems (ITS) Early/Strategic Deployment Plans (EDPs/DPs), seaport plans, transit plans, airport plans, etc.;
- Other supporting documentation developed as part of the regional planning process;
- Current environmental documentation.

Supporting and additional information or special studies not included in the plans shall (Government Code 14032) be made available to the California Transportation Commission and Caltrans upon request.
